4 New industrial facility increases production capacity, SKU's flexibility and scalability

New infrastructure built to outgrow today's constraints, enabling faster product launches, more efficient production and room to scale

Foto da fábrica

Industrial facility

The Company's growth has outpaced its own infrastructure, operating beyond its prior capacity. This trajectory led the need for a new space.

The new industrial site spans over 3,000 m², with roughly 800 m² dedicated to production.

Built for expansion: a fully integrated (production, warehousing and operation) model designed to create and launch new SKUS from scratch in extremely short cycles

Biscoitê's Unique Production Process

1. Concept development
   New flavors and formats are developed internally, informed by direct customer and franchise data
2. Batch trial run
   Concepts are tested in small batches before any commitment to full-scale production
3. Line reconfiguration
   Production lines are reconfigured to run a new SKU without disrupting the core production schedule
4. Scaled production
   Industrial-scale baking is paired with hand-finishing on premium items, preserving the brand's artisanal signature
5. Packaging and dispatch
   Final assembly and packaging take place at dedicated distribution centers before dispatch
6. Store launch & decision
   New products reach stores within 30-45 days, with performance data guiding the decision to scale or discontinue
